9 Hours of Continuing Legal Education (CLE) on the Mediterranean Sea

Barcelona (Day 1)
Founded by Romans in the first century BC, Barcelona is the vibrant capital of Catalonian Spain. Many of the world’s finest treasures can be seen in Barcelona’s museums and monuments. Romanesque and Gothic frescoes and treasures can be enjoyed at the Catalan Art Museum.

ATTRACTIONS & ACTIVITIES
While you’re in Barcelona, don’t miss Gaudi’s masterpiece, The Sagrada Familia Church.

Gibraltar (Day 3)
Located at the southernmost tip of Europe, the Rock of Gibraltar is literally between the Atlantic Ocean and the Mediterranean Sea. Its unique location has played a pivotal role in history.

ATTRACTIONS & ACTIVITIES
Tour the famous Rock of Gibraltar, one of the world’s most important military strongholds.

Marseilles (Day 5)
Founded nearly 26 centuries ago, Marseilles is the oldest city in France, a mosaic of old and new with a dozen villages and eight islands, each offering a world of enchanting discoveries.

ATTRACTIONS & ACTIVITIES
For the best view of the city, there’s only one place to go: Notre Dame de la Garde.

Genoa (Day 6)
For centuries, Genoa has been a major commercial seaport. Today, it is one of Italy’s largest cities.

ATTRACTIONS & ACTIVITIES
Take a deep breath and immerse yourself in the underwater world at the Aquarium of Genoa. Discover new ecosystems such as the flooded forest, the mangroves, the Madagascar reef and the Moluccan Islands.

Livorno (Florence) (Day 7)
The birthplace of the artist Modigliani, this is Tuscany’s principal port.

ATTRACTIONS & ACTIVITIES
You’ll definitely want to explore Florence, one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Start by visiting the church of Santa Croce, known as Italy’s Westminster Abbey, view the 14th-century interior, stop at the Piazza del Duomo in Florence, and then stop in the Piazza della Signoria, and gaze upon a copy of Michelangelo’s David and the Loggia dei Lanzi.

Civitavecchia (Rome) (Day 8)
For centuries the ancient port of Civitavecchia has served as the gateway to magnificent Rome. Its a city so immersed in history, you’ll find yourself drifting back to a distant time. Home of Michelangelo’s Sistine Chapel, Rome flourishes today as she did in her Golden Age. Experience Rome, a city of colossal ruins, majestic cathedrals and a golden past, worthy of many return visits.

ATTRACTIONS & ACTIVITIES
Experience the history of Rome as you wander around the Colesseum and Roman Forum.

How to Research Social Media for Background Information and Evidence…While Avoiding Potential Ethical Traps
Presented by: Carole Levitt, Esq. and Mark Rosch,
Internet for Lawyers/CLEwebinars.com
CLE Credits: 1.0 hour General and 2.0 hours Ethics

Whether you are researching social media profiles for investigative, background or evidentiary purposes – and you should be – you need to know how to navigate through social media sites to find profiles and to do it ethically. We’ll show you how to research quickly and thoroughly. We’ll show you how to avoid potential ethical traps by discussing how the Rules of Professional Conduct have been applied to social media research and discussing social media ethics opinions and court opinions.

You will learn how to find “secret” ways to discover if someone has a Facebook profile; useful information about parties, lawyers, judges, experts, jurors, and clients; evidence to attack a party or witness’s credibility; and uncover fraud. You will also learn whether you can subpoena social media companies to obtain profiles and how to overcome social media discovery issues.

During the ethics portion of this seminar, you will find out the answers to these questions (and many more): Do lawyers have a duty to be aware of social media as a source of potentially useful information or evidence for their cases or matters? Is it ethical to view the public profiles of unrepresented or represented parties and witnesses or potential or seated jurors? Is it ever ethical to “friend” any of the above to view their private profiles? Should you counsel your client about their use of social media? Should you monitor your client’s social media activity?

Managing High Conflict Cases/Disputes/Legal Disputes/Personalities
Presented by: Megan Hunter, MBA, High Conflict Institute
CLE Credits: 3.0 General

This training will focus on learning and practicing conflict management skills, through lecture, group discussion, video and practice exercises. Lawyers will gain skills and confidence which will assist them in handling any high-conflict situation, whether in litigation, negotiation, formal mediation or other work with potentially high-conflict clients.

High-conflict disputes are increasing in all aspects of society, especially in separation and divorce. They often involve one or more parents, family members, friends and/or professionals with high-conflict behavior, characterized by: all-or-nothing thinking; unmanaged emotions; extreme behavior; preoccupation with blaming others; prolonged, unresolved conflict; drawing in many other people. These disputes can be toxic, draining, and utilize precious resources and time.

Yet these disputes can generally be managed by understanding high conflict behavior and using skills to manage the dispute that are often different from ordinary conflict resolution methods. There are simple skills you can teach potentially high-conflict clients to help guide them through litigation, negotiation and formal mediation. These skills will help you guide them into reaching a settlement and creating lasting agreements, and you will learn new skills to help you manage their frequent outbursts, unrealistic expectations, desire to win at all costs, and to recognize and mitigate potentially damaging behaviors and actions before they occur.

Ethical Best Practices: Pairing Online and In-Person Networking Activities
Presented by: Carol Schiro Greenwald, Ph.D.
CLE Credits: 1.0 Ethics, .5 General

There are ethical rules for social media and in-person meetings that offer many opportunities to move a connection forward from the initial handshake to a trusted relationship. In this workshop we will discuss how to implement a strategy that uses social media connections to build your in-person network, enhance your reputation and reinforce in-person outreach initiatives. We will also look at using LinkedIn to establish your basic brand and will cover the ethical rules and ethics opinions that set the parameters for approved actions.

Ethical Best Practices: The Art of Giving and Getting Referrals
Presented by: Carol Schiro Greenwald, Ph.D.
CLE Credits: 1.0 Ethics, .5 General

Ethically build a practice around giving and getting referrals. In this session we will discuss the art and strategy of giving and getting referrals and best practices for the referrals, the referred and the referred-to. We will cover the ethical rules and ethics opinions that set the parameters for approved actions.
