This Right will Stick Around

A movement, a right, in nineteen twenty.
The white men who own stakes in this great land.
Activists get women rights of plenty.
Women want rights, they want to take a stand.

Women just like Alice Paul won't stand by.
Inequality, this was at the time.
Men do not want this, they would rather die.
Don't cast your ballot, Voting is a crime.

After countless fights, the women have won.
The Amendment is passed, legally sound.
Men and Women equals, sure as the Sun.
Women can vote, This right will stick around.
