

Still Standing

Though times have changed,
She remains sustained.
The Constitution still standing,
Her respect, commanding.
Through conflicts at home and abroad,
The Founder's words, we applaud.

Though times have changed,
Ideas scarcely rearranged.
Freedoms and rights protected,
The people's liberty, defended.
Through conflicts at home and abroad,
America's persistence, awed.

Though times have changed,
The law remains.
The banner giving proof through the night,
A hope that we'll be alright.
Through conflicts at home and abroad,
We strive for a union, less flawed.
