

Citizens Responsibilities

By Evan Forsman

Why is it important to fulfill our responsibilities as citizens? We have lots of responsibilities as citizens of the United States. Responsibilities can vary from getting your room clean to paying your bills. There are a lot of responsibilities that most of us get done on a daily basis like doing the dishes, making dinner, cleaning your room, and going to work or school. No matter how big or small it is, everyone has responsibilities to take care of. Completing our responsibilities can help improve the cities and the country we live in. I think that citizens' responsibilities are very important. Some of the important responsibilities of a citizen are abiding by the law, being informed when voting, and paying taxes.

Abiding by the law is just one of the important responsibilities U.S. citizens have. One of the things abiding by the law protects is our general safety. Our general safety is very important. It makes us feel more comfortable in public areas and reduces the likelihood of someone getting hurt. Abiding by the law also protects citizens rights. Our rights are also very important because they allow us to speak freely, and give us choices over what we stand for. It is our responsibility to abide by the law, as it protects our general safety and protects the rights of other U.S. citizens.

Being informed when voting is another important responsibility U.S. citizens have. Being an informed voter means you know who you are voting for and what they will do if they get elected. It is our responsibility to know who we are voting for because if you choose someone and do not know their intent when they get elected, you could end up with a candidate winning that does not make choices you like. Being informed when voting is an essential responsibility. It ensures we know and agree with the values and opinions of the different candidates. It also ensures that better choices are made for our country.

Paying taxes is a very important responsibility. When you pay taxes it goes to many important services such as schools, jails, hospitals, firefighters, and police officers. It even pays for some of our roads. All of these services are super important pieces of our country. Without these services, it would be a lot harder to stay safe and do some of our everyday things. It's our responsibility to pay
